Cost

The Department for Education's (DfE) guidance <https://www.education-ni.gov.uk/articles/school-uniform-0> highlights the importance of the cost of uniform and that policies regarding school uniform do not discourage parents from applying to a school of their choice because of cost. Schools will therefore be expected to consider the needs of every group and any existing suppliers of school uniform.

In sourcing school uniform, each school should be able demonstrate how best value has been achieved i.e. keeping compulsory branded items to a minimum and where possible the parents' availability to purchase these from supermarkets.

Where suppliers are used, single service contracts and cash back arrangements should be avoided, and any savings negotiation should be passed on to the parents. Details of where uniform can be purchased should also be set out in Appendix 1 of the above Policy.

Academies are also expected to keep the cost of supplying the uniform under review.

Equality

The school should widely consult on its proposed uniform policy or any changes to an established policy and document the consultation process undertaken, and the decisions taken in weighing up competing points of view. To minimise the risk of wider challenge the school may wish to seek input from relevant religious communities and/or authorities to demonstrate that it has fully considered the issues.

In determining a uniform policy, schools may decide that the needs of individual groups are outweighed by factors. This may include health and safety, security, teaching and learning, protecting young people from external pressures promoting a strong, cohesive school identity that supports high standards and a sense of identity among pupils, as well as the need to promote harmony between different groups represented in the school. The school must balance the rights of individual pupils against the best interests of the school community as a whole.

Noting the school's obligations under the Equality Act 2010 (Act), many schools have chosen to adopt a neutral or flexible policy i.e. which permit girls to wear trousers instead of skirts. Academies will need to carefully consider any requests from pupils to vary the Policy, and particularly from those who have any of the listed protected characteristics under the Act, including but not limited to disability, religion, and gender reassignment (or transgender).

Requests must be reasonable and should be put in writing to the headteacher. Requests should be considered on a case-by-case basis and with reference to the circumstances and we recommend that any decisions and the reasons for these are documented by the headteacher appropriately.

Challenges to the Policy that cannot be resolved should be escalated using the Parental Concerns and Complaints Policy, however academies may also wish to consider what insurances are in place to meet any claims which may subsequently arise out of a parental complaint.

Non-compliance

The DfE's non-statutory guidance on school uniform (September 2013) sets out the school's right to discipline pupils for breaching rules on appearance or uniform, provided that it is in accordance with the school's published behaviour policy. This includes the headteacher's (or person authorised by the headteacher) right to ask the pupil return home to remedy the breach. If a pupil is asked to return home to remedy the breach, the DfE is clear that this is not an exclusion but should be considered as an authorised absence. If, however, the pupil breaches the Policy in such a way as to be sent home to avoid school, the pupil's absence may be considered as an unauthorised absence.
